

Rick Jacobs

Rick Jacobs is the principal of Law Enforcement Training and Education Consultants. He has 30 years of law enforcement experience, ten of those years as a deputy sheriff in VA and has been in the learning industry for thirty years as an instructor, adjunct faculty, instructional designer, training manager, and learning strategist.

He has worked in higher education, the military, public safety, finance, technology, and sales.

He currently consults internationally on learning projects and learning organizational development, and provides training to transitioning teachers, corporate trainers, and law enforcement instructors.

He has a BS in Philosophy and an MS in Criminal Justice.